DESCRIPTION

The Brown Trout is a prominent, large detached pub proudly positioned in the heart of the village of Llantwit Fardre. Set along a busy main road, the pub enjoys excellent visibility and passing trade, while still benefiting from its strong connection to the local community.

Located just a few miles from the centre of Pontypridd, the pub is ideally placed to attract both village regulars and visitors from the surrounding area. Llantwit Fardre itself is a substantial and well established village situated on the A473, approximately 12 miles north of the Welsh capital city of Cardiff, offering convenient access to major road links while retaining its welcoming, community-focused character.

Pub Layout

The pub trades from two open plan areas which are serviced by one central bar servery, it offers a mixture of fixed and loose seating together with an area suitable for people wishing to stand. There is a separate games area with a pool table. This can be accessed from the front of the premises. On entrance from the side of the premises you are faced with an open plan room which can cater for live entertainment. To the side of the premises there is a car park for on average 10 cars and a beer garden and smoking solution running along the side of the premises. On the first floor there is a room accessed from the front entrance staircase that could be used as a small function room/meeting room, with access onto an outside decked area.

TRADING STYLE

The pub currently enjoys a strong reputation as a food-led destination, offering guests a high-quality dining experience. However, there is exciting potential to further enhance the wet side of the business, with opportunities to introduce a broader range of both classic favourites and contemporary drinks.
