DESCRIPTION

The Horseshoe is situated on the edge of Ormskirk Town Centre near to the Civic Hall and the Parish Church. The area is teeming with shops, restaurants and local businesses and is greatly supported by the thriving student population from nearby Edge Hill University and locals who live nearby. Ormskirk is accessible by road via the A570 and A59 roads. The A570 connects Ormskirk to Southport to the northwest and St Helens to the southeast, while the A59 provides access to Liverpool to the south and Preston to the northeast. There is also links to Liverpool Central Station via Ormskirk railway station.

Pub Layout

The pub has a single bar which is located in the heart of the pub servicing all areas. The pub is split in to four separate trading areas all with high ceilings and some traditional features, offering a variety of different styles from a cosy snug with an open fire, to a section with televisions predominantly for sports. Additionally, to the rear you will find a large hard landscaped patio area with a number of benches and a smoking solution.

TRADING STYLE

Currently the pub serves both locals and students from Edge Hill University and is a good wet led pub. It does not have a food offer, but there is potential to provide snacks or a back bar offering. There is a potential to drive sales with televised sports and local team sports such as darts and pool alongside introducing live music events or new drinks such as cask ales.
