DESCRIPTION

The Masons Arms is a detached pub situated on the busy road through Risca, a small village on the outskirts of Newport, South Wales. It benefits from being surrounded by numerous densely populated housing estates yet just minutes from the main roads connecting to Newport and the train station connecting to the valley and Newport City. Admiral Taverns would like to invest in this pub externally with the new long-term tenant (subject to board approval)

Pub Layout

The main bar is accessed through the front door with the bar in a prominent position straight in front of you. To the right is a small lounge style area with a mixture of fixed and loose seating which is predominantly utilised by the locals. To the left of the bar is another area which houses the pool table and television and is regularly used by the pool team to host home and away matches. To the rear of the pub is a more relaxed lounge area with fixed seating and a log fire. The commercial kitchen is situated on the first floor and the car park is accessed from the side of the pub, having space for ten cars. The pub benefits from two beer gardens one immediately accessed via the rear of the pub, and the second being a paved area reached via the car park.

TRADING STYLE

The Masons Arms is a drinks focused, community local pub with a great opportunity to upgrade the current retail offer by the introduction of food and a strong rhythm of the week. There is a good sized, fully compliant, commercial kitchen to the first floor, which has the advantage of having a dumb waiter to enable the introduction of a wholesome, pub grub food offer. The new licensee should look to relaunch a value food offering bringing in families from the community.

ACCOMODATION

Private Accommodation

The private accommodation is situated on the first floor, with two double bedrooms, bathroom and sitting room.
