Drink Deliveries Update

Dear Licensee,

I am pleased to confirm that XPO have reached an agreement with the trade union, Unite, and the planned industrial action will no longer be going ahead.

Consequently, we will be able to return you to your original order and delivery days. This will begin with order days resuming from Tuesday 24th August, ready for deliveries on Thursday 26th August. We will also be able to return to including small pack (wines, spirits, soft drinks and packaged beer/cider), from this date.

Whilst this is good news, the hospitality sector continues to suffer from shortages of driver and warehouse staff resources and XPO will be continuing to impose some weight limits on deliveries. Some brewers are also continuing to experience a shortage of kegs. Together these factors may continue to present challenges over the coming weeks. We will endeavour to provide all of the drinks supplies you require, and your Admiral Taverns Customer Support and Sales Advisor will advise you of any supply issues or restrictions at the time of placing your order.

If you require keg or cask beer/cider supplies before your next scheduled delivery is due, please contact us and we will endeavour to arrange an additional emergency delivery.

Thank you again for your continued support and co-operation during this time. If you do wish to raise any questions, please contact your BDM or email us:

Best wishes

David Wigham
